Jackal not killed at zoo: probe; but records show animal found motionless in burrow

Sophiya Mathew
New Delhi, February 6

Even as an internal inquiry at the National Zoological Park in Delhi has concluded that there is no evidence to establish that a jackal was killed inside the zoo, internal records—which reveal details of the examination process during the probe—show that the jackal was found inside a burrow with no movement. The records show that the animal was dragged out by the zoo staff and placed in a white sack on the instructions of a bear officer. The Indian Express has learnt.

No evidence of the death of a jackal has been found during the inquiry. Some discrepancies in protocols and irregularities have been found. Various witnesses, and samples have been collected as part of the inquiry. Sanjeev Kumar, Director of the National Zoological Park, told The Indian Express on Friday. The Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC) had ordered a probe last month after the National Zoo Workers Union filed a complaint alleging unlawful killing of a jackal. The union said that one of four jackals that were found dead on November 20, 2025, had been found in the Himalayan black bear enclosure and hid inside a burrow, where chilli powder was allegedly poured and fire ignited to force it out, leading to the animal's death. It had alleged that the remains were disposed of through incineration without any mandatory autopsy, amounting to violations of zoo rules and provisions of the Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972. As the claims were investigated, The Indian Express learnt, records showed that the animal was found motionless when recovered on December 18 from a burrow in the bear's enclosure. Records also note that a trap cage had been set during the period to capture the escaped jackal even as it was used. These records also state that at the time the animal was placed in the sack, there were no visible signs of burning on the body and no foul smell nor any maggot infestation was observed. Ashes, and hair samples related to the animal from the burrow were sent for forensic examination to the Wildlife Institute of India. Zoo officials said the inquiry has not established that the jackal died due to burning, but has flagged procedural lapses, including gaps in record maintenance and the absence of a clearly defined protocol for handling free-roaming animals within zoo premises. Subsequent to the union's letter, the zoo administration withdrew an official from the post of range-in-charge. As reported earlier by The Indian Express, after 12 days of CCTV footage from key locations were unavailable during the period of the incident, an expert technical report submitted to the probe officer.

32nd Avenue CEO held; firm says issue settled with complainant

Express News Service
Gurgaon, February 6

GURGAON POLICE Friday arrested Dhruv Sharma, the founder CEO and managing director of 32nd Avenue, the commercial real estate project in Gurgaon, in connection with an alleged Rs 2.5-crore case of cheating. He was produced before a Gurgaon court, which remanded him in six days' police custody.

The case pertains to a 3,000-sq-ft first-floor unit at the 32nd Milestone complex at Sector 15. The complainant has alleged that the company failed to execute the terms of the sale agreement for a commercial unit, and instead allegedly sold it to 25 other individuals.

An FIR was registered on January 21 this year on the complaint lodged by one Trom Ventures Private Limited at the Kherki Daula police station. The complainant alleged cheating, criminal breach of trust, forgery, and criminal conspiracy.

A spokesperson for 32nd Avenue told The Indian Express on Friday evening that the issue had been amicably resolved with Trom Ventures after a mutual understanding.

Earlier this week, a company spokesperson had said recent delays in making payments to some investors were "driven by a limited-term vacancy in a short-term project on our Gurgaon property, arising from normal tenant churn and a change in strategy." It is unfortunate that a brand widely regarded as both a customer and investor favourite has faced reputational impact due to cyclical vacancy in a minority of spaces, despite decades of strong operational performance and consistent delivery," the company spokesperson said.

A police spokesperson said on Friday afternoon: "The accused company offered to sell the unit for Rs 2.5 crore. On September 21, 2025, the complainant company paid the full amount, and an agreement to sell was executed. However, the conveyance deed was not registered in the complainant's name despite repeated follow-ups. The accused company continued to make rental payments as per the agreement but delayed the deed execution."

TEACHERS TO DU ACADEMIC COUNCIL 'Renaming Dyal Singh (Evening) College could trigger land disputes'

Vidheesa Kuntamalla
New Delhi, February 6

On January 14, The Indian Express had reported that DU was considering renaming Dyal Singh (Evening) College, a move publicly flagged by Vice-Chancellor Yogesh Singh during his address on Vir Bal Dwas in December 2025. According to faculty members, they were not consulted before the proposal was announced.

The move could trigger land disputes, violate the transfer deed via which DU had taken over the college, and "seriously degrade" the academic health of the institution.

In a letter sent to the AC members on Thursday, the Dyal Singh College Teachers' Association (DSCTA) urged DU's elected representatives to block any attempt to rename the evening college or to create a second morning college on the same campus.

Unanimous decisions taken by the members of the AC, an apex body, are to be implemented in DU colleges.

Noida engineer death: High Court orders release of Witzown director

Express News Service
Lucknow, February 6

THE ALLAHABAD High Court Thursday ordered the release of Abhay Kumar, director of real estate firm Witzown Planners Ltd, noting that his arrest in connection with the Noida engineer's death last month was made without following mandatory procedures.

UP WOMEN'S PANEL CHIEF WRITES TO ALL DMs 'Schools must not send homework on phones'

Express News Service
Lucknow, February 6

FOLLOWING THE deaths of three sisters in Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh State Women Commission chairperson Babita Rani has written to all district magistrates (DMs) to issue directions to schools, prohibiting interactions on mobile phones with students up to Class 5 and their parents.

On Wednesday morning, the sisters, aged 12, 14, and 16, had jumped from a window of their ninth-floor flat in Bharat City township allegedly after their phones were taken away, and they were told by their father to not watch online Korean content or play online Korean games.

Initial reports attributed to Ghaziabad Police sources had suggested that the sisters died by suicide after their father objected to their "excessive online gaming". Police later said they were obsessed with "Korean culture" and had left behind a purported "suicide note" that contained the names of several online games.

Speaking to The Indian Express, Rami said she would be holding meetings with school authorities as well to discuss measures to ensure homework online classes and other activities are not sent or held through phones. If a message needs to be conveyed through phones, it should be restricted to parents only, she added.

The chairperson said she has been raising the issue of restricting use of mobile phones by children for a long time, but the tragic incident in Ghaziabad has made administrative intervention unavoidable now. A direction needs to be issued to schools regarding strict monitoring on use of mobile phones by the children at least up to Class 5, she said.

The chairperson further said, "We had no option during Covid but to make children sit with phones to attend online classes and get instructions from schools. But it is not compulsory now." She also said the void 'space' should be completely avoided in families, since "parents and children have developed the habit of asking for 'space', saying, 'I have no space'." This has been raising families... children withdraw from the community and become lonely, spending most of their time with mobile phones, leading to Ghaziabad-like incident."

"I have sent a letter to all DMs to issue a circular to schools regarding strict monitoring of students' use of mobile phones... and that no homework or school activities be sent on mobile phones... for students up to Class 5," the chairperson told The Indian Express.
